

WHATS GULET & THE BLUE CRUISE

This is a yacht type that served in Aegean and Mediterranean shores in shipping, sponge diving, and fishing for hundreds of years, and has been aimed at cruising after 1960s following experiences of blue voyage in the region.

Generally gulet yachts are designed as:

Tirhandil: Yacht's stern is the same as its bow. They are aesthetically very beautiful but narrower in the back in comparison with other types.

Ketch: These yachts look like the back is just cut in the middle, containing bigger living areas due to their volume.

Gulet: Named as gulet or gullets, these yachts provide the biggest area for living and enjoying. They cannot make any speed because of their bulky weight.
(generally between 7 – 12 knots)

In return, they rock less in the sea, and are more comfortable. Mostly they are built out of pine, chestnut, mahogany and teak trees.

In last years they are even built of lamination or steel. The ones that are suitable for blue voyages are between 15 and 50 meters.

Recently these yachts provide luxury hotel comfort, going hand in hand with the improvements in yachting industry. They are extremely enjoyable yachts ideal for sailing, as a result of technical improvements in latest years.

Things you should know before reservation

» Firstly you should determine the number of your group, and its combination (couples, singles and children) and inform us.

» It is the best when you know your exact dates of chartering in terms of pricing. Generally you must plan your trip for embarkation and disembarkation on Saturdays. Especially in high season July and August, you may not find boats to rent under 7 days. However you can still inform us of your special requirements.

» It may help us if you determine your budget, so we can give you suitable alternatives faster.

» If you like to go on a certain itinerary, or spots that you like to visit.

Your interests. Sailing, culture trips or relaxing, your interests can give us an idea for better alternatives and itineraries.

The things you should get:

» A camera for unforgettable moments

» Swimsuits: Most of the time you will be wearing them (at least two sets), cover ups or shorts to go with them.

» Books: In most of the yachts, there are several books in different languages and some guide books. Nevertheless, you may bring a couple of your favourite books.

» Fly repellents for some areas

» A couple of long sleeve pullovers for cooler summer evenings.

» Allergy medication if you need any.

» 1 set of beach towels and soft sole shoes to use on deck, or flip flops

» If you have any Turkish guests, they need green passports or Schengen visa for Greece entries.

» Sunscreen suitable for your skin.

How to spend time on yachts?

Trekking: You may explore incredible nature in unique bays of the world.

Archeology: If you are keen on archeology, you will be very lucky. On every blue voyage itinerary there are many archeological sites

Water Sports: You can experience priceless adrenalin on waterski, jetski, ringo and banana, provided generally by luxury and deluxe yachts. The cost varies in some of the boats; either paying only the fuel of toys or paying by the time you use the toys

Canoe and wind surf: Many of the yachts have these toys. You can inform the crew if you wish to enjoy them.

Sailing: Currently all of the yachts open sails as long as the weather conditions allow.

Para-sailing: If your itinerary is on Fethiye-Marmaris or Fethiye-Kekova, you can get the chance of bird eye viewing the worldwide famous Oludeniz beach from Babadag mountain (2000 meters), and parachute from there.

Rafting: Our guests who follow the itinerary of Fethiye-Marmaris, can enjoy the rafting in Dalaman stream.

Diving: If you reserve beforehand, you may attend daily diving activity, through our diving agents on the itinerary.

Fishing: Every yacht has one or more fishing gears on board. Good luck!
